

EMJ Revised Bank Work Timeline Check In

Delete Reply Reply all Forward

CR

Chu Rebecca

Wed 11/27/2013 7:55 AM

Mark as unreadTo: ☐ Amy Essig Desai <aedesai@farallonconsulting.com>; ☐ Ryan Barth;

Amy and Ryan

I wanted to check in with you both about the timeframe I heard on presenting the revised bank work proposal to EPA. Based on the meeting on Monday- I am expecting that EMJ will present those revisions on 12/23. I also understand, however, that the validated data won't be available until 12/15, and that the OC normalized data is still not available.

Considering that the validated data won't be available until 12/15- how does that affect your timeline for 12/23?

Also, as you are preparing revisions to the BODR- what does that include? Outside of the actual bank work, I assume it will also include revisions to the description of how the TSCA level materials will be handled/disposed of to some extent? And revisions to the WQ management since I recall you cannot mix the TSCA level and non-TSCA level materials for dewatering/disposal? Wrapping my head around the various components that will be revised in the BODR will help me line up the resources on my end to review this.

In terms of the schedule- I noted that I am going to approve the schedule at various milestones until your contractor is on board to firm up the details of the removal action. I'll be drafting a letter to that effect- so heads up.

I am working today until 4:30 at home (b) (6). Feel free to call with questions. Otherwise- have a great Thanksgiving!

Becky

Rebecca Chu | Remedial Project Manager
United States Environmental Protection Agency
Region 10
1200 Sixth Ave Suite 900
ECL-111
Seattle, WA 98101
(206) 553-1774
chu.rebecca@epa.gov

